

A Little of This and That in OUR TOWN

"For those of you aboard who are interested, during the last few minutes we have been traveling at 80 miles per hour," came the voice of Roland R. Seward, Jr., over the public address system of the General Motors Train of Tomorrow, of which he is manager.

Your editor turned to a fellow Northern Michigan publisher and admitted that he was certainly right. Merrill Weber of the Alpena County Herald had just said, "I believe we are traveling a little faster." A glance out of the expansive Astra-Dome didn't reveal the landscape of the Saginaw Valley slipping past much faster.

This is but one of the unbelievable features of the sleek blue and aluminum train that has been enthusiastically received as a major development in the advancement of railroad passenger transportation. The purpose of the current tour is to enable as many GM employees as possible to see this outstanding example of American industrial teamwork. The project trip last Saturday morning from Saginaw to Flint and back to Bay City was arranged by Walter Scott, GM public relations executive.

The train was designed by General Motors as a contribution to the greater enjoyment and comfort of the traveling public. It has had wide acclaim from hundreds of railroad executives who have visited it and ridden on it. Many orders for equipment along the same lines, including the famed penthouse Astra Domes, have been placed in the last year with the railroad building companies. The special exhibition train was designed by GM engineers and built by Pullman-Standard. Some of the new cars already are in service on regular routes and many more are being delivered this summer.

The GM experimental unit includes most of the required types of cars—diner, sleeper, coach and observation lounge car—each having the Astra-Dome observation space for 24 passengers, and the varied floor levels that make it utterly different from anything previously operated on rails.

The Astra-Dome observation space is 216, considerably more than the average capacity of normal four-car trains of this type because of the extra space offered by the Astra-Domes.

The Dome of Tomorrow has a considerable number of "firsts": an independent Diesel power system for each car; a four-level floor space; an all-electric kitchen; the Astra-Dome—lower-level compartment; train-to-home telephone wire-recorded entertainment; new type of outside swing hanger springing which minimizes bumpiness and side-sway; and specially developed journals which also contribute to ease of riding.

Three-level seating in the diner and in the observation lounge car is one of the outstanding features, while the sleeping car, with accommodations for 20 sleepers in private rooms has chairs in the Astra-Dome for those who wish to enjoy the scenic advantages of a top-deck seat, in daytime or under the stars.

The dome feature, enclosed by heat-resistant and non-glare safety glass, is outstanding on this train. The effort to provide a car with this ideal observation space was the originating move that led to the entire train's design and construction.

The completed train represents the co-operative efforts of five General Motors Divisions as well as hundreds of outside companies which worked on the development of a new equipment or the improvement of present equipment for the train. The Electro-Motive Division, besides providing the motive power for the train, co-operated with the Pullman Standard Car Manufacturing Co. on the detailed engineering and construction of the train; the GM Styling Division designed and styled the train's interior; the Frigidaire Division developed the air conditioning and refrigeration system as well as co-operating with the Detroit Diesel Engine Division in designing the unique "power package" which equips each car of the train to be self-sufficient from a power standpoint; Delco Products also designed direct-acting shock absorbers used on all cars as well as a special shock absorber installation on the final car to prevent "whip-cracking" action the Hyatt Bearing Division, makers of railroad journal boxes for 20 years, supplied their roller bearing journal boxes of advanced design, which includes an arrangement permitting lateral movement of axles within limits established by thrust blocks mounted on synthetic rubber cushions.

Box Social At Golf Club

The public has been invited to attend an old fashion "box social" at the Grayling Golf Club on the evening of July 29 (next Thursday) by the officers and directors of the club.

In announcing the social, President J. F. Cook pointed out that the event was not limited to club members, but, on the contrary, asked that each member bring at least one other couple long. An inspection of the course and newly planted greens will be held. Other entertainment is also planned for those attending.

Tables will be provided out of doors with lights strung over the dining area. Coffee will be furnished by the club. The only obligation of those attending is to bring a box lunch.

The course is in the best shape it has ever been, veteran golfers in the city say, with only the greens still not up to playing shape. It is expected that play on the greens will start in about two weeks if the past month progress is continued. However, club finances are at a low ebb and it is expected that the box social will produce the needed finance to continue operations of the course until play starts in about two weeks hence and greens fees start rolling in to help pay the cost of upkeep.

Remember the night, July 29; place Grayling Golf Club, 7:30 P. M.

Plan Food For 7,200 Troops

Preparations to feed 7,200 National Guardsmen who will train at Camp Grayling from August 7 to 21, must of necessity be elaborate.

More than 20 mess personnel will precede the main body of troops from over 40 Michigan communities to the camp Aug. 3 to attend a food service school. Sub-jects to be covered are: food management, types of rations, preparation of food, storage and handling of food, meat cutting, baking, use and care of field equipment, use of the military reservation.

Each separate unit of the Michigan National Guard will send two enlisted men to the school, to be held in the three mess halls of the military reservation.

The school will last until Aug. 6, when the mess personnel will prepare for the arrival of the other troops. Hot meals will be waiting for the other guardsmen when they reach the camp August 7.

Stable products will be shipped to the camp from the army's general depot in Columbus, Ohio. Perishable items will come from the Chicago quartermaster market center. Other food supplies, including such items as bread, milk, ice cream and cheese, will be purchased from Michigan suppliers.

It is estimated that the soldiers will consume 116,240 pounds of meat, 49,598 pounds of bread, 64,049 quarts of milk and 1,217 gallons of ice cream during the camp period.

Indies Score Tenth Win

The Grayling Independents kept their season's record unblemished Sunday as they narrowly defeated Houghton Lake there in ten innings by a 3 to 2 score. The league-leading Grayling squad were out for 4 but Houghton Lake made 5 errors to Grayling's 2 misplays.

Bob "Musty" Gildner was the winning pitcher as he went all the way striking out 12 Houghton Lakers. His only bad inning was the third when the Lakers got to him for their two runs. Grayling scored their two runs in the first half of the fourth and clinched the fray in their half of the tenth as Ross Thompson led off with a smash through third base. George Hanson drove a base on balls. Clyde Anthony sacrificed Thompson to third and Hanson to second. With a "squeeze play" signal on Ed Carlson laid a perfect bunt down the first base line, scoring the winning run.

Anthony collected two hits in four trips to the plate with a double, Bennett's hit was a double, the games only extra base blow.

The Indies travel to Comins next Sunday to continue play in the North Central Baseball League. Fred C. Welsh, vice-president, will fill Kessler's slot for the remainder of the term.

Welsh immediately announced plans to increase effectiveness of the chamber by boosting its budget and stimulating more interest among the membership.

Welsh also announced that the Grayling souvenir coin, to be circulated here after August 1, would be the first step in making the group financially capable of carrying on its normal functions.

Welsh stated that Walter Truettner, president, and Miss Margaret Nelson, cashier of the Grayling State Savings Bank have secured the Chamber's complete co-operation in the distribution of the souvenir coins as well as any other civic program that would benefit the community.

The Chamber of Commerce has revealed the details for the design which will be used on the Grayling souvenir coin to be in circulation after August 1. The bronze pocket piece which will be redeemable at Grayling at its face value of twenty-five cents during the summer and fall, will feature engravings of the Michigan National Guard training site at Camp Grayling and the Michigan State Capitol.

The committee in charge, the coin will be used as normal means of monetary exchange until December 1st and it is expected that all merchants will use the souvenir coin in making change for sales. Customers receiving the coins as change may spend them at any place of business in Grayling or redeem them at the Grayling State Savings Bank at their face value, until December 1st, after which date the coin will be good only as a pocket piece. Merchants will be asked in the near future to sign the coin in initial supply of the souvenir twenty-five cent pieces which will be delivered and collected for after August 1st.

After the initial supply of coins has been exhausted by the merchants, additional quantities can be obtained at the bank as regular quarters are obtained. It has been explained by Fred C. Welsh, president of the Chamber of Commerce, that the coins will be used every effort to circulate all the coins possible, a certain number will be carried outside the city as souvenirs and never redeemed at the bank. The revenue from the coins will be used to defray Chamber obligations including the canoe race without the need of contributions from the merchants.

Former Resident Passes On At Detroit

Funeral services were held in Detroit, Monday, for Clayton William Comer, 89, who passed away at Ford Hospital in Detroit on July 15.

Mr. Comer was born and grew to young manhood in Grayling. His father, George, operated a meat market at the corner of Michigan and Pennsylvania Avenue for many years. His mother passed on in Detroit at the age of 89 years about 3 months ago.

Chamber Head Resigns Post

Directors of the Grayling Chamber of Commerce met in special session Friday evening to accept the resignation of the President Jerome Kessler.

Kessler, one of the outstanding civic leaders of the community, said in his letter of resignation that due to other demands on his time he was unable to carry on as leader of the group. He asked to be relieved immediately of all duties connected with the office.

In accepting his resignation, chamber directors stated that Kessler's membership and the activities of the group along winter and summer resort promotion and industrial development lines would be continued.

Fred C. Welsh, vice-president, will fill Kessler's slot for the remainder of the term.

Welsh immediately announced plans to increase effectiveness of the chamber by boosting its budget and stimulating more interest among the membership.

Welsh also announced that the Grayling souvenir coin, to be circulated here after August 1, would be the first step in making the group financially capable of carrying on its normal functions.

Kiwanis Club Notes

Dr. David Shetter, supervisor of the Hunt Creek Experimental Station for the Fisheries Institute and the Conservation Department was the speaker introduced at the regular weekly meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Grayling held last Monday evening at the Lone Pine Inn. The program was under the direction of Dr. Leonard Allison.

Dr. Shetter spoke on the history and development of the taking of fish counts for population estimates in trout streams. He told of the various ways that had been used and the results obtained. He then explained how the Institute used the census figures obtained in stream sections to work out a planning program and stream development program that would better fishing. Following his talk he answered many questions pertaining to the work.

Next Monday night a winning team captained by Don Gottho will be the guests of a losing team captained by Ernest Hoeft on a canoe trip and dinner. The losing team in a recent attendance contest has worked out plans to leave by canoe from Borchers Landing at 6 P. M. next Monday evening and canoe down stream to the pull-over for an out of doors meal.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Puyear and son, Tommy, of Battle Creek, and Mrs. Wm. N. Watney several days the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scheinoff of Detroit, spent several days as guests of the E. B. Birdsalls. They were joined by their son and daughter-in-law Sunday and all returned to Detroit.

Mrs. June Penny and son, Dick, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rummel of Battle Creek spent the week end at the Penny home at Lake Margrethe.

Grayling To Get DDT Dose During Next Two Days

The insect-killing chemical is spread from a TIFA machine which is the trade name for the Todd Insecticidal Fog Applicator. The machine is mounted on a jeep which will travel up and down each street in the city as well as making several trips around the city dump located just off the north downriver road.

The work is very spectacular but harmless and company officials wanted the people of Grayling to remember the work going on and not to mistake the huge rolls of insect-killing fog for a fire. Grayling will be the first city in Michigan to be fogged with TIFA which was pictured graphically in last week's copy of Life Magazine.

A job such as will be accomplished in Grayling usually will keep the city clear of insects for about three months. Custom work is done by the company also. A store building treated by this method will remain free for about 6 months.

The machine is capable of breaking one pound of insecticide into a dispersing liquid into several million droplets. These droplets are carried by air currents to hidden and obscure spots. The fogging of the city and the bringing into Grayling of such a machine was worked out with the Pioneer Chemical Company by City Manager Max Davenport.

Ithaca Firm To Do Application

The Pioneer Chemical Company of Ithaca, Michigan is expected to move into Grayling today or tomorrow for a two day stand to apply DDT throughout the city. The firm, which normally engages a city the size of Grayling $500 for such an application, will do the job here free as an introduction of the service in Northern Michigan.

The insect-killing chemical is spread from a TIFA machine which is the trade name for the Todd Insecticidal Fog Applicator. A woman's age may be a secret in ordinary matters, but when a girl like Mrs. Vienna Wright of Lansing, Michigan, takes to the air for her first airplane ride we have to let you know she is all 81 years of age. She enjoyed the trip so much she tried to get her friends to take a ride also. Her efforts were without success. But it does point up the fact that it takes more nerve to get in an airplane after spending 81 years on the ground than the younger people may realize. So, without encouraging others to wait so long, we take our hats off to Mrs. Vienna Wright for being the oldest girl to fly with the Grayling Air Service.

Plans for the joint use of the McNamara Field by the Guard Air Group and civilian planes are under consideration. Col. D. W. Armstrong, in command of the 127th Fighter Group, was in Grayling last week, and stated that present plans did not anticipate closing the field to civilian traffic. However, there are traffic problems to be worked out, such as the tactical approach for landing of military craft which is not standard for civilian planes and may require changes in field rules.

The airport will be a noisy place during the encampment, but that is the kind of noise that we like to hear. The military aircraft will avoid the hospital as much as town when using the southeast runway by veering to the left after takeoff. This will take them over the north end of town and will avoid the hospital as much as possible. Unfortunately, landings Northwest will bring them over the town. The location of the airport in relation to Grayling makes this unavoidable. Col. Armstrong states that because of this the military craft will use the Southeast Northwest runway as little as possible.

James Baker, soloed this week. The rate he is going he will be taking his wife for a ride about Labor Day. Commercial students are now attending ground school every Tuesday under the amended curriculum now in effect.

General Loveland, 46th Infantry Commander, has made several trips to Grayling this month—by air. He has a sleek Navion at his disposal and is usually piloted by Capt. Burpee, of Lansing. Anytime you see a Navion with two white stars on a red plate attached to the upper part of the tail at the airport you will know the general is hereabouts.

A New Europe

"Out of the prevailing confusion a new world is taking shape," writes Sir Harold Butler in Foreign Affairs. "The most significant change is the revival of Western Europe's will to live. The mood of apathy and despair seems to be yielding to new hope and energy. For that the Marshall Plan must be regarded as mainly responsible. It was not, however, the offer of further American aid which revived the drooping spirits of the Europeans. They had no reason to think that by themselves more billions of dollars could be more than a temporary palliative. What stirred them to action was the notion that by working together they could use this American grant to lay the foundation of a new European system."

If that point of view is correct, Western Europe may be on the verge of unity for the first time in recorded history. Under the pressure of bleak necessity, the old prejudices and hatreds, stemming back to real and alleged injustices which occurred centuries ago, may be disappearing. Should that happen, the principal barrier to a strong Europe, capable of meeting and resisting aggression from the East, will gradually disappear.

It is true that in France, Italy, and elsewhere, there is an enormous amount of downright graft, lethargy, and the desire to get as much as possible while giving as little as possible. But this should not obscure the fact that many millions of Europeans, and their governments, are committed to a policy of hard work and sacrifice in order to build for the future. Many American correspondents have been tremendously impressed by what Western Europe is doing in the way of rehabilitation in the face of great odds, and the almost total absence of many things which are regarded as virtual necessities in happier nations.

WHAT "Stepping Down" MEANS TO YOU

How the New Hudson, America's most streamlined car with the low silhouette, brings you roominess and comfort never before obtainable in an automobile.

You've seen them flashing by in all their sparkling color—those trim, gorgeous New Hudsons with the low, streamlined silhouette.

But have you really examined one of these amazing cars? They are the big news in the automobile world today! Hudson, always known for great forward steps in the development of the automobile, and for efficient use of motive power, is again way out ahead with a motor car that hits a new high in efficient use of space—that makes a greater percentage of its total space actually available for your use and comfort.

When you take a close look, you'll find that Hudson, through the use of a new, exclusive "step-down" zone, reclaims so much usually wasted space that this sensationally efficient car gives you more useful interior room than you've ever before experienced in an automobile.

This new kind of motor car has a sturdy foundation structure surrounding the passenger compartment, which permits the floor to be recessed down within the base frame so that you step down when entering. This makes space between frame members, which is usually wasted, available for use inside the car.

Seats can thus be lowered to harmonize with the new, lower top, and by stepping down into Hudson, which is only five feet from ground to top, you get more head room than in any other mass-produced car built today!

And how about seating room? Hudson's new design reclaims space formerly taken up by wheel housings and protruding fenders. This is accomplished by placing rear seats ahead of the rear wheels, in a zone unrestricted by wheel housings. As a result, rear seats are 15 inches wider in this car than in any other mass-produced car built today!

Other sketches that follow:

OTHER CARS—Passenger sits on top of a frame, as shown above, and (in the rear seat) between rear wheel housings, which occupy space that should be a part of seating room. Hiding on top of a frame means that essential head room must be reduced if the roof is lowered for streamlining.

NEW HUDSON—You ride cradled down within Hudson's base frame, as shown above, and also ahead of the rear wheels. Seats can therefore extend full width of the car. Due to the use of the "step-down" zone, roof is lowered for streamlining, yet ample head room is provided.

The New Hudson even reclaims the unused space in doors by providing gorgeously tailored, recessed compartments where interior door handles, window cranks, ash receivers, and generous arm rests are placed out of the way to allow increased elbow room for passengers.

This development of Hudson's exclusive, all steel Monobuilt body-and-frame* with its "step-down" zone required years of engineering work, the perfection of new production techniques and millions of dollars in highly specialized new plant investment. This may be why Hudson, and Hudson alone, offers this important advance today!

"Stepping down" is so important to motor-car beauty, riding qualities and safety—as well as roominess and comfort—that the nearest Hudson dealer has a booklet—yours without obligation—fully explaining this design principle. Hudson Motor Car Company, Detroit 14.

SHORT STORY

Make Mine Missus

By KERNIE RYDBERG

SLIM McDERMOTT dropped in at the post office before heading back to the cabin. There was a letter for him and the camp newspaper. The letter was from the main office.

"Mr. Francis W. McDermott, Silver Pine Camp.
"Dear Francis: Sorry to interrupt anything so important as a honeymoon—even a delayed honeymoon—with anything as trivial as business. However, the Santa Ruiz deal broke sooner than expected. Fred Lang is having to take his wife to a higher altitude. You have been appointed district manager for that area. Instead of reporting here Monday, please go directly there. Fred has arranged for you to take over their place. You're a lucky dog. It's a nice, two-bedroom house, furnished. Best regards, TOM."

3-Minute Fiction
Slim grabbed the groceries and legged the trail to their cabin. District manager! Oh, man. How he could use that pay increase.

"Honey," he called, nearing the cabin, "where are you?"
"Got a letter from the boss," said Slim. "The Santa Ruiz deal's gone through."

"Really?" cried Bill. An instant later she was out on the porch. "Let's see!"

Slim handed it to her. When she reached the part about the house, her face shone.

"Oh, Darling, I'm so tickled." "My big, sweet District Manager!" said Bill, softly. "A real house! Let's celebrate."

"Okay," grinned Slim. "How about dinner at the Lodge?" "Wonderful," said Bill. "I'll finish dressing."

Slim sat down in the rocker again; stretched out his legs. Life was pretty wonderful. He sat there thinking about his new job, then picked up the camp paper. His eyes caught a news item.

"Well, I'll be done-gone!" he growled.

"What is it?" called Bill. "Oh, this darned newspaper," grumbled Slim. He read sarcastically. "After a two weeks stay in Silver Pine, Mr. and Mrs. Bill McDermott leave Sunday for San Francisco. Mr. and Mrs. BILL McDermott!"

Among those present were "the Bill McDermott." Never "the Francis McDermott." The man from the city directory had become very confused when he interviewed them. In the directory, it said quite plainly, "William McDermott (Frances)." Now she was back again on the porch. Slim stared at her in amazement.

She had on a pair of Slim's slacks. She'd folded up the pant legs and they bulged in wads at her ankles. His flannel shirt hung clear to her knees; his tennis sneakers stuck out like snowshoes. His big hat came down to her eyes.

Slim scowled. Things like that did something to a man.

"How do I look?" she asked, her face perfectly sober.

"What's the idea?" "Don't fit so good, do they?" asked Bill, twisting around, lifting her shirt tail and tugging at the baggy seams.

Bill came over to Slim. She grinned at him, tweaked his nose, sat in his lap.

"This is going to be a new life for us. A new town. New friends."

Bill squirmed around on Slim's lap. She took an envelope from a pocket, handed it to him. He opened it with some difficulty. It was a legal document.

"What's this?" asked Slim. "Read it," said Bill. "Read the last paragraph."

Slim read aloud. "This court hereby stipulates that in the future Willis Weatherford McDermott will be legally known as Violet Willis Weatherford McDermott."

"Violet!" snorted Slim. "It's not so bad, Slim," whispered Bill. "If you just say 'V.'"

"V." ventured Slim carefully. He took her in his arms and kissed her. He paused once to whisper, "V. Darling."

WHY PERIODIC OIL CHANGES?

It is obvious economy to change oil instead of changing rings, pistons and bearings.
Clean, full-bodied oil will prevent excessive engine wear indefinitely.

Engine oil takes a terrific beating under any circumstances. For instance, do you know the average crankshaft makes approximately 3 million revolutions while you drive 1000 miles? Meanwhile the pistons have made 6 million trips up and down in the cylinders.
Some wear takes place of course.

But wear is very slight IF the oil is right.
So we recommend your oil be checked every 1000 miles. If it is dirty and carries abrasive particles of grit and metal change it at once.
If it is clean simply add R. O. C. for normal driving or NORTHLAND Motor Oil for high sustained speeds.

Diann Dale

Musical Comedienne—Direct From the Nation's Hot Spots

She brings an impish quality, a delightful sense of humor, a tongue in the cheek approach, a rare sense of rhythm, she pierces the pompousness so many artists assume, she tickles the keys and makes them laugh gaily, to top it she sings with a style that glows with charm and warmth.

HOW TO LOSE WEIGHT—SENSIBLY!

You can... if you follow the helpful suggestions and menu tips in the practical 1-day diet designed for hot weather, a fat-burning diet in The American Weekly, great magazine with his Sunday's (July 25) issue of The Detroit Sunday Times. Overweight folks, here comes your opportunity to reduce—sensibly!

Mr. and Mrs. Thero Laurance and little son spent several days with us this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray A. Poyer of Coshocton, Ohio, had a cabin for several days.

M. McGowan of Detroit called in camp this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Smith of Toledo were guests the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Pond were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Claud Skingley, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. B. S. LaChappelle, Mrs. Wilbert Simpson and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Furgerson all of Grayling were Sunday visitors in camp.

Mary Carol, daughter of Mrs. Helena Carol of Wyandotte, returned home Sunday from the hospital, after going through an emergency operation at the Grayling Hospital for appendicitis. They have a cabin for two weeks.

Mrs. Bertha Dannenberg received slight burns on her face Saturday evening at her cabin on the Manistee River when a gas-line lantern burst into flames.

Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Peterson made a canoe trip on the Manistee River Sunday.

Sorry C. S. Barber isn't so well at present.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Knox of Saginaw visited the latter's grandmother, Mrs. E. Smock, over the week end.

Mrs. C. S. Barber and daughter, Mrs. Esther Downer, Mrs. E. Smock and Mrs. H. Horton were in Ellsworth last Thursday for cherries.

We are sorry to lose the Alva Hunt family, who will soon move to Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Cram are here from Lansing, visiting his mother, Mrs. Gilbert Cram.

Mrs. C. D. Melroy is on the sick list.

Dwain Barber and his friend, Jack Butler of Flint stopped in to see the former's grandparents, the C. S. Barbers, en route from Lovells to Flint.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Allen, Jr., of Lansing are visiting his mother, Mrs. Nellie Allen.

Our Gang was very nicely entertained Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Eugene Papendick.
